American Council for Construction Education

Nomination Statement: Provide a statement of 500 words or less describing how this individual, company, or organization has demonstrated a profound effect on construction education during the last year and why they should be selected for this national award. Factors can include impact to construction reputation; contribution to the Construction Industry as a whole; benefit to future Construction Management Students.

Supporting Documentation: Attach to this form general descriptive information, evidence of such work resulting in nomination, or letters of endorsement if pertinent for consideration of this award. There is no minimum or limitation on the supporting documentation. Only enough information should be provided for reviewers to understand the nature and impact of the nominee's "profound affect" on construction education this year.
